WPC FLOORING

Our WPC floors are 100% waterproof, which means there is no swelling of planks or damages as a result of exposure to spills and other forms of moisture. Through our technically advanced construction, our engineered core backing combines plastic composites and foaming agents to form a bond of strength and stability. Topped with a virgin vinyl top layer for superior softness and quietness under foot that the entire family can enjoy. Matched with an industry leading wear layer and two coats of urethane finish, these floors are built to take the punishment of an active household or business.

Each product sports an attached underlayment and easy click lock installation method that is DIY friendly and can be installed as a floating floor over virtually any subfloor. Lastly, cleaning and maintenance is a snap, requiring only regular sweeping and the occasional spot cleaning or mopping.

Our Rigid Core SPC composite floors are second to none. The (Stone Plastic Composite) core construction is comprised of a generous amount of limestone and has a higher density rating in comparison to WPC. Its high density offers better resistance from scratches or dents from heavy items or furniture and makes it less susceptible to expansion and expansion in cases of extreme temperature change.

Built with the active household and commercial applications in mind, our SPC is topped with an industry leading wear layer technology and two coats of urethane finish. All of our SPC products are 100% waterproof and comes with an attached underlayment and an easy click locking system. Lastly, cleaning and maintenance is a snap, requiring only regular sweeping and the occasional spot cleaning or mopping.
